Rough Initiation.

Twenty-three young women, being initiated as members of the life class at the Art Institute, in Chicago, were spanked before an andience of 400. The candidates had been given to understand that the initiation was a replica of the times when the Knights of the Round Table flourished, and they were brought in attired in velvet doublets and gunnysacks nether garments. The new candidates had been promised something quite original in the way of initation, and all admit they got it.

The Busy and Jolly Toyland.

The most interesting place for children these before Christmas days. More than a half acre on the fourth floor filled with everything that man has contrived to make the little eyes snap and sparkle. The most beautiful dolls—and hundreds of kinds of them. Furry and halfy animals—dogs, cats, lambs, cows, monkeys and elephants—a wonderful menagerie. Tool cheats for boys with a mechanical bend; iron and tin toys—choo-choo cars, fire engines, ice wagons. Blocks and puzzle games, balls and rubber toys—and then the toys that do things. There are wonderful doll houses for little housekeepers. All sorts of nursery furniture, doll carrisgos, hobby horses, tenpin sets, board games—everything that Santa Claus has ever made, or Christmas ever brought to light to make the hearts of children happy, is here in the most wonderful profusion.
